

The Royal heritage Museum, Trongsa

Students from college of language and cultural studies (CLCS) visited museum galleries as a part of our education program in collaboration with college Adm.

The project management team has successfully completed the 'museum structure consolidation project phase I' by engaging carpenters from local communities (funded by MHPA)

Conservator Assistant sharing basic conservation theory and practices to 160 College students of the College of Language and Cultural studies, Taktse. Such activities can enhance students understanding of museum whereby more people / students will come to visit our galleries. It is a win-win situation for students and the museum management.

Museum Assist. Conducting education program for the students

Conserving, packaging and storage is very important part of museum – to keep artifacts for future generations

On job training – putting theories into practices...it is difficult and need high degree of patience. But then, if there is will, there is a way.....

The museum staffs are very committed to keep museum area clean and beautiful

In collaboration with RBP, Trongsa, we make sure our hydrant systems are working (monthly checking)
