

The Royal heritage Museum, Trongsa

Kuzuzangpola ,

Welcome to the Royal Heritage Museum, or otherwise known as the Tower of Trongsa. Built in 1652 and turned into museum in year 2008. The Taa Dzong or watch tower is prominently situated on a steep hill above the main Dzong, the structure consists of a massive circular five story tower, or utse flanked by two lower towers. The south and North towers connect to the uste by multi story wings. Two smaller, free standing semi-circular towers are located further down the hill to the west and south- west of main tower.

The museum has cafeteria catering to 30 visitors order at a time. With pre order, we provide you fresh and hot meal of your choice. We have small museum shop at the exist providing many Bhutanese and local product to be taken back to your country for remembrance or as gift to your loved ones.

Sangay Tashi Head

Museum staff with Lam Neten

Discussion with Mrs. Julia White, Sr. Curator of Asian Arts, DC
Berkeley Arts Museum, California

An experimental museum education programs was participated by more than 100 students from Sherubling center school. More than 300 students also visited museum galleries as a part of museum education program by the museum

Direction is important for the visitors

The RCSC
chair, Da sho
Karma
Hamu Dorji visited museum galleries

The Royal Heritage Museum Management celebrated 10th year of successful journey into museum world. The occasion was graced by Venerable Lam Neten of Trongsa Rabdhey and other officials of Trongsa Dzongkhag,. A dozen of international museum visitors and students from Sherubling Center school participated in the event.

Making museum area more colorful with trees

12 staff 3 kuyners

Number of visitors

Tourist = 5654, SAARC= 569, Bhutanese = 690, Student= 658, VIPs/Officials=323, especial program for student= 500 and others 3000 (during duezangs/ especial occasions)